Flood of Orders for Seed.

As a direct result of the world's records won at Chicago recently by Alberta-grown seed grain, the Provincial Department of Agriculture has been flooded with orders from many countries for seed grain from the cleaning and marketing plant.
Enquiries for more than 100 carloads have been received by W. J. Stephen, Field Crops Commissioner, from points in the United States, Great Britain and Europe.

The plant will handle about 50,000 bushels. Farmers in Alberta who desire seed from the provincial plant are advised to get their orders in at once, so that they may have their requirements filled.

Prices for the registered seed from the plant are as follows: Registered Marquis and Ruby Wheat, Extra No. 1, $1.00 per bushel; 4th generation, $1.15; 3rd generation, $1.25; 2nd generation, $1.50; 1st generation, $1.75; Strange's Premium,
$1.75. Banner and Victory Oats, Extra No. 1, 60c per bushel; 4th generation, 65c; 4th generation, 65c; 3rd generation, 70c; 2nd generation, 75c; 1st generation, 80c.
Bigland's Premium, $1.10. Registered Barley, $1.00 per bushel.

Orders accepted for quantities of not less than two bushels of wheat, three bushels of barley, three bushels of oats, with 10c each for sacks.

Follow Alberta's Lead.
A resolution favoring compulsory cream grading which has been in effect in Alberta for the past year or more, was passed at the Dominion Dairy Conference in Ottawa during the first part of December. The conference also recommended the adoption of similar cream standards for all Provinces, upon the basis of standards now in effect in some of the Western Provinces.

The conference recognized the improvement which has been made in the improvement of the quality of butter in Alberta under the compulsory cream grading system, and was unanimously in favor of such a system.

Provincial Seed Fair.

The Provincial Seed Fair to be held in Edmonton again the coming month, on January 17 and 18, will show considerable improvement in the prize list. About $4,000 will be competed for in prizes, and offers a special prize for the best sample of Alberta Marquis Wheat. The U. G. G. of Calgary offers a special for the best sample of seed oats. P. Burns Co. offers a special for the best exhibit of potatoes. The Commercial Life Insurance Co. offers a silver trophy to the grower with the highest average score for any two farm crops eligible for exhibition at the seed fair. A gold watch is given with this honor. A gold watch is given to the grower securing first in each of wheat and oats.

The annual meeting of the Alberta Seed Growers will be held during the seed fair, and a dinner, it is expected, will also be given to delegates, including the outstanding winners at the Chicago Exhibition.

Investigate Elevator Rates.

J. D. O. Metherall, of the Edmonton Board of Trade, representing both that body and the Provincial Government, will go to Vancouver shortly to investigate charges at the terminal elevators, in connection with the proposal to raise the harbor duty on grain there.

Bulletin on Corn

Owing to the great success which has attended the corn growing in Southern Alberta during the past sesson, a bulletin on the growing of this crop has been prepared by Prof.
James Murray, District Agriculturalist of the Provincial Department of Agriculture at Medicine Hat, and will be printed and distributed shortly.

NOTES ON DAIRY INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA, 1923.

(By Prof. Markham, University of Alberta.)

The dairy industry of Alberta is making steady progress. The dairy factories manufacture into cheese and butter the surplus milk and cream produced by 40,000 farmers in an annually increasing volume.

There are 74 creameries in operation this year and it is estimated that they will have a combined output of 18,000,000 pounds of butter as compared with 15,417,070 pounds manufactured by the 74 creameries operating last year; 68 per cent of this butter was made north and 32 per cent south of Red Deer.

Cheese Factories

The 14 cheese factories that are now running will, it is estimated, produce 1,500,000 pounds of cheese as compared with the 551,092 pounds turned out by a similar number of plants last year. This will mean an increase of over 50 per cent in the cheese output.

Creamery Butter

A large quantity of creamery butter has been exported from the Province this year, to markets in other provinces, to points in the United States, China, Japan and Great Britain. It is worthy of note, here, that a shipment of 2,600 boxes of Alberta creamery butter was forwarded in September to Great Britain via the Panama Canal.

Referring generally to this year's markets for dairy products, it may be stated that there has been a free active market throughout the season and while the prices realized for dairy products have been slightly lower than those of last year they have still been considerably above the pre-war level.

"We are pretty near neighbors now you know," said the local boy "I live just over the river. "Really!" said the neighbor, "I do hope you'll drop in one evening."

ABLE, EXPERIENCED AND HONEST

By the very nature of its organization, a Trust Company is better able to care for estates and trusts than an individual. It never becomes ill, dies, or takes a vacation.
Add to these qualifications the broad experience gained in the administration of hundreds of estates, and investing millions of trust funds—and you have the strongest supports in favour of a Trust Company as your Executor and Trustee.

We welcome enquiries.

Mr. Joseph Hicks, barrister, in conversation with a representative of The Times on Wednesday of this week stated that he is engaged in process of law to quash the conviction of a local man charged and convicted of contravention of The Inland Revenue Act, and now serving a six month's sentence in Leithbridge gaol. Mr. Hicks on the second of January filed and served the necessary notices to quash this conviction on technical grounds of a varied and intricate nature and is confidently looking forward to the eventual quashing of the conviction against his client.

Special New Year's services were held in the churches of Macleod. In the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Kennedy spoke on the resolutions made and the necessity of keeping them, not for a day or two, but for the whole year of 1924; keep them by living them. Rev. W. J. Herrick, in the Church of England, called on his people to live up to the day by helping to make the world better because we are in it, and to shoulder our responsibilities, as citizens. In the Methodist church, the choir repeated the Christmas carols with a full choir. This was much appreciated by the large congregation present. The very cold weather kept many away.

THE PATCHWORK QUILT

Ten went off to fight; I like the Lord's own way Of turning our eyes upward, when we go so far astray.

As to debt, and keep a-doling on the things that fade and wilt, But somehow, spite of conscience, I love a patchwork quilt.

I picked this one up the winter that I could stand it through the day-time, but as it came night, I found All the horrid scenes of battle right before my eyes would fit.

So I went to scribble a scrawl, just to ease my mind a bit.

When I came to choose a pattern, I picked up the letter T. Not because it was so handsome, but it stands for "Tom" you see, And it was a little comfort in these days so dark and cold.

To have even that much of him which I could see in the Pariah Hall on Friday, January 11th, at 8 p.m. Members and adherents of the Church are asked to make a special effort to attend.

THE WRECK OF THE HESPERUS

(Up To Date)

It was the run-runner Hesperus, That sailed the winter seas; And the skipper had taken his little daughter To bear him company.

Fair was her hair, (a peroxide blonde) Her eyes a deep blue, Twin cherries for lip and softly made. And her cheeks were the latest hue.

The skipper led beside the helm, A cigarette in his mouth; And he watched both the veering wind and blow.

Then up spoke an old smuggler, Had sailed at Bermuda before; "You better put on me like a storm, You better put on me like a storm."

"Last night I could see two moons, meek and mild as ever built. The skipper inhaled a lungful of smoke."

"A fearful laugh laughed he, 'Hush! now girlie: come over here; And don't you take on so; For I can't weather the roughest gale That ever wind did blow.'"

He wrangled her warm in her seal-skin coat To shield her from the blast; He cut a rope from a broken spar And lashed the cargo fast.

"Oh father! I hear the sound of guns, Oh say what may it be?" "Some run-runner fighting off pirates, girl."

"Oh father! I see a gleaming light, Oh say what may it be?" "Is a revenue-cutter after us kid? And he steered for the open sea."

"Oh, father, I hear the church bells ringing, Oh say what may it be?" "But the father answered never a word, For steered to the eyes was he."

And fast through the midnight dark and drear Through the whistling sleet and snow; Like a sheeted ghost the vessel swept Towards the reef of Run-runner's Woe.

She struck where the white and fleecy waves Looked soft as the froth on beer; And the cruel words the skipper used Were something awful to hear.

At daybreak on the bleak sea-beach A fisherman stood aghast; To see cans of whiskey and champagne and gin Adrift with a floating mast.

He used to sit and gullied them out; A joyful bird he was. Pinned and all some luck like this, At the end of an angry sea.

"THE WRECK OF THE HESPERUS"

(Up To Date)

It was the run-runner Hesperus, That sailed the winter seas; And the skipper had taken his little daughter To bear him company.

Fair was her hair, (a peroxide blonde) Her eyes a deep blue, Twin cherries for lip and softly made. And her cheeks were the latest hue.

The skipper led beside the helm, A cigarette in his mouth; And he watched both the veering wind and blow.

"Last night I could see two moons, meek and mild as ever built. The skipper inhaled a lungful of smoke."

"A fearful laugh laughed he, 'Hush! now girlie: come over here; And don't you take on so; For I can't weather the roughest gale That ever wind did blow.'"

He wrangled her warm in her seal-skin coat To shield her from the blast; He cut a rope from a broken spar And lashed the cargo fast.

"Oh father! I hear the sound of guns, Oh say what may it be?" "Some run-runner fighting off pirates, girl."

"Oh father! I see a gleaming light, Oh say what may it be?" "Is a revenue-cutter after us kid? And he steered for the open sea."

"Oh, father, I hear the church bells ringing, Oh say what may it be?" "But the father answered never a word, For steered to the eyes was he."

And fast through the midnight dark and drear Through the whistling sleet and snow; Like a sheeted ghost the vessel swept Towards the reef of Run-runner's Woe.

She struck where the white and fleecy waves Looked soft as the froth on beer; And the cruel words the skipper used Were something awful to hear.

At daybreak on the bleak sea-beach A fisherman stood aghast; To see cans of whiskey and champagne and gin Adrift with a floating mast.

He used to sit and gullied them out; A joyful bird he was. Pinned and all some luck like this, At the end of an angry sea.
